Dear Hiring manager,

With great willingness, I am applying for the ongoing recruitment of the vacant position which was advertised in your establishment. I believe that my education, skills and experience makes me a qualified candidate for the vacancy.

I am highly organized, goal focused and result driven. I am an excellent team player and my communication skills (both verbal and written) are impeccable with high dedication to duties. I possess the ability to make use of personal initiative and innovation where the need arises and to carry out my duties with little or no supervision while being diligent to the task.

As a certified medical laboratory scientist, I possess Vast experience in laboratory diagnosis, organizational decision making skills, time management skills and I have a track record of consistently meeting and regularly surpassing demanding performance goals.

I am applying with a mission statement of working in a right and stable organization that fosters career growth. I uphold the core values of responsibility and integrity.

Thank you.

Yours Faithfully,
Hephzibah Adedokun Raymond.
